

4th Meeting 08/25 - Chapter 5: Becoming a Generalist

(DQ1) What are some potential qualities/actions that make a good man

↳ having a tender/vulnerable strength

↳ confidence in abilities

↳ action; courage in your action (courageous action)

↳ man should be capable of terrible things but has the wisdom to control it

↳ compassionate + cultivation → not transactional knife → representation

(DQ2) What are some things, as men, do we tend to be outsourcing & what could we convert to soul sourcing

↳ reading/becoming knowledgeable → not being so quick to turn to the phone/internet for answers

↳ texting → lets go towards talking face to face and confronting our problems head on

↳ utilizing other vices to find peace/happiness/security/purpose women/drugs/alcohol → bring that back in and individually confront the problems w/ peace/happiness/security/purpose

↳ important to tackle the obstacles in front of you, and only control what you can control

(DQ3) do you think part of the reason we do some of the reckless, dumb shit we do b/c we feel a calling deep down to be daring, wild, and strong → misinterpreting

↳ society doesn't act in the interest of God's plan → nothing necessarily new though → society doesn't operate in the right way - irregardless we need to obtain the wisdom to know the right way to go

Q4 What can we do to refocus/recenter ourselves in generalism/masculinity

- ↳ reading/getting back to the basics
- ↳ "practicing" → putting yourself in a position to grow
- ↳ small daily actions, holding yourself as a man regardless of the size of the situation
- ↳ finding things you are shying away from and facing them, b/c we can see those things becoming weaknesses/insecurities
 - marriage shows how men/women's insecurities/fears are very different → can lead to the feeling of inadequacy
 - set aside time to learn/ask the questions
- ↳ insecurities in knowing certain men know things/can do things that you can't do → eating/laying down pride to grow

Prayer Requests: Connor's friend (Noble) is having a tough time, pray for this country, ~~Connor's jokes/size~~
