

7th Meeting: Chpt. 8: Becoming Deep Roots 9/22/24

Da #1

how are you actively shaping the details of your days and your decades to orient yourself toward a life that takes on ↑ qualities of eternity?

- ↳ losing the day-to-day battles, lacking control over small impulses → feel bad about it but don't change → struggle to have really any practice
- ↳ practicing faith; impactful ^{alcohol} towards whole life
- ↳ things like sex, money, ^{alcohol} drugs, ambitions → hard to resist, and might feel bad abt later but still keep pursuing
- ↳ try to get into good rhythm + maintaining a positive attitude amidst struggles → not being overly critical of our own mistakes

Discussion Topic #1

false belief that my worth is dependent on my accomplishments

- ↳ hardcoded into men
- ↳ not where you want to be → makes it harder to not take it personally → focus on the present instead of always worrying abt future
- ↳ in a materialistic world this idea is glorified
- ↳ to an extent accomplishments/being accomplished man is definitely important but that cannot determine our entire worth

Discussion Topic #2

Our profession and our formal education cannot form the boundary lines of our learning

- ↳ life-long learning, a lot of ppl become complacent once they hit the work force → most miserable, never realize their goals/dreams
- ↳ this book/meeting helps w/ cont. facilitating learning/deep thought in our lives
- ↳ this is probably most people, and it's obvious but it just keeps happening

Discussion
Topic #3

- ... the geography around us corresponds to the geography of our heart
- ↳ getting out in nature, experiencing God's creation
- ↳ not focusing so much on little things → live life and take it a day at a time, enjoy the little things
- ↳ in this risk-averse culture, we cannot fall into the bland, cyclical life w/ no mystery or adventure → have to create novel experiences/adventures to enjoy/grow/experience together

Discussion
Topic #4

- We come to realize that the false self dies only when we choose to move away from the false sources of life
- ↳ getting rid of the false sources is definitely ideal but putting that into practice is really hard
- ↳ simple answer - really difficult to practice to put secular things aside; how can I be better/more consistent/more invested in relationship w/ God
- ↳ brother-to-brother accountability, instead of just being blind enablers - trying to tap into what we know to be right and enforce it w/in ourselves and each other
- ↳ "kill the boy, and let the man be born", "a man's not going to become who he's meant to be until he has to be"

DT #5

- to become a King is to cultivate a benevolent detachment from the world
- ↳ supreme minority → persecuted/hunted... "before they hated you, they hated me"
- ↳ living like no one else wants to, to achieve an end no one else will achieve
- ↳ could even just look like sitting around a fire outside and having a couple beers
- ↳ fortress of solitude - detach - be w/ the ones you love/trust or alone
