

2nd Meeting - Chpts 2-3 - 7/28/24

do you think the Fa. v son beef arise from pride?

↳ trying in chpt. 3 could be problem w/ "false-self"

→ pride could drive wedge in relationship

• "my life I'll do what I think is best"

• "remember this is your parents first go around too"

↳ naturally trying to emulate the "perfect" relationship, however, there will always be short-comings → until you turn to God as your Father

When's the last time we took a step back + prayed/meditating on inacting a meaningful Δ

↳ "too long"

→ points of conflict/being at the cross-roads

• disengaging b/c of overwhelmed feeling → goes back to lack of validation leading to withdrawal

↳ becoming honest + coming to terms w/ failures + realizing that pulling away is creating bigger hole

pg. 22 → "I don't need anyone/anything" "Imperfect Stoicism"

↳ I understand I'm young + need help → humbling exp.

↳ become the norm - not the norm to ask → need to respect for help - people look down on you - fake it until you make it

↳ have to get in those risky/vulnerable positions to grow

↳ gonna help me be successful by asking questions/getting input
What kind of man do I want to be?

↳ works v family - God-fearing man lots of cross-overs → through my actions people can see God is apart of my life

• not always doing crazy stuff/pushing the limits

↳ man wants to be a provider for friends/family + legacy

↳ peace = real happiness, knowing + having peace w/ yourself

↳ a man that is an encourager/uplifter (friend or random)

• how can we push ourselves to this place? → attitude, regardless of circumstance utilize the resources around you

- cont. to give yourself exposure to the resources of your life
- embracing the transition period + accepting the drive + hungry ferocity but focusing on surrounding yourself w/ the right people + allowing God to be present in setting your goals / plans

→ big goals will take a while to form + achieve

→ humility the cornerstone of men that anyone can look up to and learn from → weak men put on the face + pretend they are never wrong

↳ the wisest men lean on each other to provide them w/ what they lack

→ he who cannot be a good follower cannot be a good leader true-self v false-self

↳ trying to portray the real self can be hard the false-self might be more palatable

↳ big difference is the lack of vulnerability

↳ comes up when you are meeting new people

↳ transition period → further self-discovery

→ being honest w/ self — mistakes are made along the way but separating failures from identity is mandatory for growth

→ have to be careful we don't only see God as a past or future God and see him in our present are we aware of our false-self's — what do our own false-selves do to deal w/ unideal circumstance?

↳ rely at least partially on guys around you to help you realize

↳ how do people feel when they are around you → maybe later / not immediately

↳ trying to hide certain aspects of myself

↳ easier to dissect someone else — a lot harder to see it for yourself → necessary for improving yourself

Prayer / thought requests — Noble's MCAT (Aug. 2), Kenny's fingers — peace + strength in dealing w/ that, Chan's last test tuesday,
